The Most Holy Trinity May 15, 2016

First Reading: Proverbs 8:22-31

The Holy Spirit, as personified Wisdom, speaks of His superiority over all things because He originated before them and witnessed their creation.

Second Reading: Romans 5:1-5

St. Paul tells us that we are at peace with God the Father through Our Lord Jesus Christ. We then can even "boast of our afflictions."

Gospel: John 16:12-15

The Paraclete plays the role of teacher since Jesus could not tell His disciples everything they should know. The Paraclete also became their guide to the "truth" of Jesus as God's only Son and our Redeemer.

Reflection by Rev. Leonard N. Peterson

Teachers everywhere will likely agree with the maxim "If you become a teacher, by your pupils you'll be taught." My own experience of twenty-five years teaching at both the secondary and university levels bears this out. How my students urged me to make a concept clearer or an idea even more appealing.

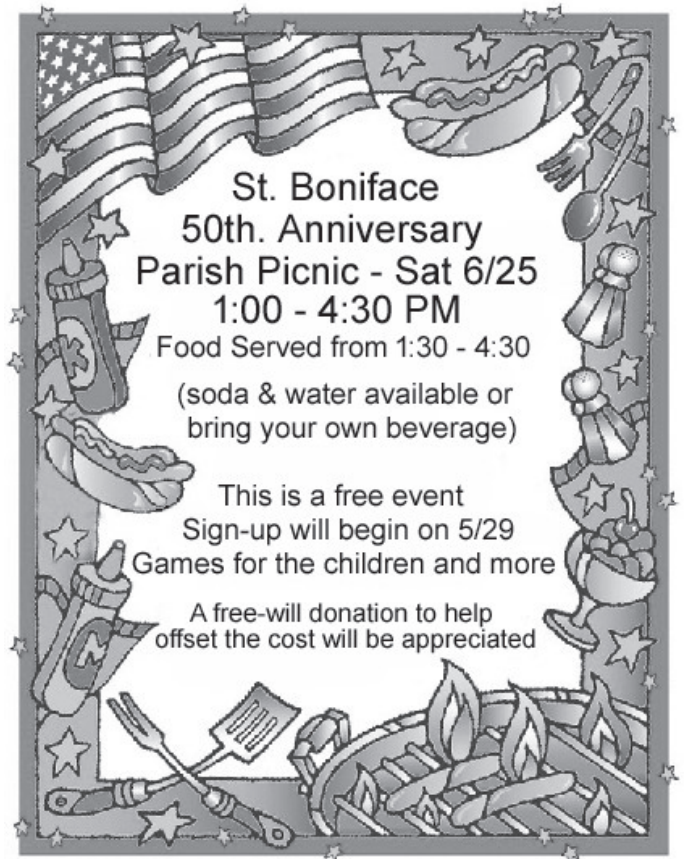

It has been both a joy and a consolation to meet many of them in later life and I enjoy listening to them tell me of some gem of wisdom which I dispensed but often don't remember. As I see time moving along in life, I cannot help but wonder if they are surprised that I'm still around. Shades of Mr. Chips!

That adage I referred to could not ever be applied to our divine Teacher. Those first uneducated disciples of Jesus were likely unaware how accurate they were when they called Him "Master." He was, and is, the perfect teacher.

We only know from Jesus that there is a Father and Son, and that they sent us yet another member of their "family" called the Holy Spirit. That Spirit is the Person who taught those simple fishermen, as well as the tax collector Matthew, and the tent-maker Paul the understanding of who Jesus was, and what He taught. The Spirit still does that for us. He also guides the Church along her grand march through time.

The Blessed Trinity is a reality far beyond our ability to understand. Nor can any earthly teacher explain it. It is a part of revelation that lives in the realm of faith. Human reason may remain puzzled, yet it dare not deny the possibility of the Trinity. When you stop to think about it, the fact that Jesus told us about it was motivated by His love for us. In revealing His authentic self, Jesus wants us to love Him as He truly is, much like a good friend lets us know him on an intimate level.

Meanwhile, we are called to remain grateful pupils for having such a Master. It is yet another sign of His love and mercy, in which we are very well schooled. Glory be to the Father, and to the Son and to the Holy Spirit. As it was in the beginning, is now, and ever shall be. Amen.

A message from Cardinal Dolan:

This is an important year, not only for our archdiocese, but also for the Church Universal as we celebrate the Jubilee Year of Mercy.

Jesus' Sermon on the Mount defines what it is to be his disciple. The message is simple yet reflective: We as Christians strive to emulate the Beatitudes. Dedication to doing so brings the Lord's blessings in our lives.

Jesus teaches us to act with mercy, compassion, and love in the Beatitudes. In this brochure, you will see how the archdiocese is applying the Beatitudes throughout our communities of faith.

During this Year of Mercy, I thank you for your generosity as our archdiocesan family continues to strive in answering the call to live as Jesus taught us.
